About PSNA

The Phytochemical Society of North America (PSNA) is a nonprofit scientific organization whose membership is open to anyone with an interest in phytochemistry and the role of plant substances in related fields. The mission of the PSNA is to inspire and foster research and development in the chemistry, molecular biology, biochemistry and systems biology of plant metabolites, their impact upon plant, animal and human physiology and pathology, renewable energy, and their economic utilization and value (www.pсна-online.org/). The PSNA annual meetings provide participants with exposure to the cutting-edge research of leading international scientists, but remain small enough to offer an interactive and intimate environment conducive to knowledge exchange and strategic discussions.

The PSNA invites you to attend its 57th Annual Meeting, to be held August 4-8, 2018 at the University Autonomous of San Luis Potosi- SLP, Mexico.
